

Five Attributes of Great Judges

Knowledgeable

We know our caption's philosophy. We study the rules and criteria reference before each contest and abide by them.

Accurate

We are committed to making correct decisions, always, and to providing accountability for those decisions.

Fair

We are impartial. Friendships, geographical and other affiliations, or personal preferences do not play any part in our judging.

Trustworthy

We recognize, place value in, and live up to the trust placed in us by the performers, instructors, contest officials and audience.

Attentive

We always provide each group with careful attention and consideration. We are deliberate in our assessment of each unit and competition.
